

Eric M. Roberts

Silver and Gold Award Winner 2019

Eric Roberts '05 has been actively fostering an appreciation for family and architecture since earning his both bachelor's and master's degree in architecture from U of I.

Roberts is an award-winning architect and principle/director of SH Architecture. He is an expert in sustainable design and a LEED accredited professional who has served on the American Institute of Architects (AIA) Las Vegas and AIA Nevada executive committees. Through his education and experience as an architect, Roberts works to help people experience the togetherness of neighborhoods and communities.

Roberts has a true talent for bringing people together through service, as well as community-minded projects. He volunteers in outreach activities to promote the architecture profession through youth education programs and high school design programs, and he started the Las Vegas Urban Sketchers Chapter whose members create art and display it locally. Putting his initiative and rallying talents to work, he has been active in establishing a political voice for architects in Nevada. At the University of Idaho, Roberts has contributed to the education of current students by serving on the College of Art and Architecture advisory board and accreditation team.

For his passionate and inspiring work as an advocate for his profession, the University of Idaho Alumni Association honors him with the Silver and Gold award, recognizing alumni who have a distinguished record of achievement and service.
