

Laboratory Equipment Decontamination Certification Form

Laboratory equipment must be decontaminated by the department before it can be sent to surplus.

Directions: Lab users must decontaminate equipment, and then complete this form and return it to EHS (safety@uidaho.edu). EHS will review the form, certify the equipment has been decontaminated by the department and then post the completed form on the equipment. You may then surplus the equipment. EHS will notify you if the equipment requires additional decontamination.
